Crossroads Between Land and Water

Passenger Terminal Amsterdam (PTA) is a crossroads between land and water and combines a multitude of functions. The striking building has a 600-metre-long quay, large reception halls, a touring car terminal, offices, a convention centre and a subterranean parking with 500 parking places. The facade, which boasts of an abundance of glass, makes for a magnificent view on the IJ-harbour and the city center. The remarkable architecture betrays the hand of Larry Malcic of the London-based HOK International Ltd. The bold, wave-like structure gives the building a nautic aura. A masterly example of modern architecture, on historical ground.

Amsterdam

Amsterdam - the place to be. The banks of the IJ harbour have been the centre of activity in the city for centuries. The terminal has numerous facilities. The Passenger Terminal where cruise vessels moor is adjacent to the city centre, a magnificent architectural achievement and a great addition to city services.

Route

By Car

Coming from Utrecht / Amersfoort

On the A2 or A1 follow signs A10 Amsterdam ring road direction Zaanstad until exit number S114 (sign 'Zeeburg / Artis'). From here follow description as below.

Coming from Schiphol International Airport / The Hague (Den Haag)

From Schiphol take the A4 to Amsterdam and then the A10 Amsterdam ring road (north). Leave the A10 Amsterdam ring road (north) at the S114 junction (follow the signs for 'Centrum, Zeeburg and Artis'). Turn left at the end of the exit road. Follow the road until you have passed through the Piet Hein Tunnel. At the end of the tunnel turn right, following the signs for 'Centrum and Centraal Station'. You will pass three traffic lights; after the fourth light turn right. The entrance to the public parking is situated in front of the terminal. It is not possible to reserve a parking place. The costs are € 4 per hour and € 48 per day. It is also possible to park at P + R Zeeburg (Park and Ride).

By Public Transport

Arriving at Central Station you can take a taxi at the exit that leads to the city centre. Here, you will also find tram 26. Get out at the first stop (Muziekgebouw). You can also take tram 25, leaving from the Arriva Bus station, situated at the Southeast side of the station. Get out at the final stop (Passenger Terminal Amsterdam) From the station it is a 15-minute walk to the terminal. Take the northern exit and turn right. Walk along the waterside and you will find the terminal at your left-hand side after having passed the bridge.
